

HUD, VA Release Supplemental Report on Veteran Homelessness

Marks shift toward interagency data integration

The Departments of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Veterans Affairs (VA) have released Veteran Homelessness: A Supplemental Report to the 2009 Annual Homeless Assessment Report to Congress. The report, released on Feb. 10, is the result of ongoing collaboration between HUD and VA to understand the extent and nature of veteran homelessness, and marks the shift toward interagency data integration.

The report determined that on a single night in January 2009, 75,609 veterans were homeless, and an estimated 136,334 veterans spent at least one night in an emergency shelter or transitional housing program between Oct. 1, 2008, and Sept. 30, 2009.

This estimate is different than the VA CHALENG report, which estimated 107,000 veterans were homeless on a given night in 2009 and twice that many experienced homelessness over the course of the year. The HUD one-year estimate was based on information from community Homeless Management Information Systems (HMIS), which prior to 2011 were not required to report veteran data. Beginning this year, all VA-funded homeless programs are required to report client data to their regional HMIS.

By establishing an information baseline acceptable to all the federal agencies working to end veteran homelessness, the report advances the implementation of the Federal Strategic Plan to Prevent and End Homelessness. It includes demographic information, analysis of risk factors, and regional utilization of services by veterans. This document will guide development of effective intervention and prevention policies and programs, and help justify funding requests submitted to Congress.
