Attention Women Veterans of All Eras

Women Veterans have higher unemployment rates and lower wages than civilian and Veteran men as well as civilian women. If you are a woman Veteran seeking employment or in the workforce, we’d like to talk with you!

How Can 60 Minutes of Your Time Make a Difference?

The National Center on Family Homelessness (The National Center) is conducting a study on women Veterans and their employment successes and challenges after service. The National Center would like to hear about your experience as a woman Veteran reintegrating into civilian work life.

If you agree to participate in this research study, you will be agreeing to complete an in-person interview conducted by a woman Veteran. You may receive:

- Modest compensation for your time and valuable input.
- A list of local resources and referrals provided at your request.

Interviews will be scheduled at a safe, mutually determined location (with on-site child care available if requested) at a time convenient for you.

Research Goals:

Our goal is to better understand the limitations that face women Veterans in the work force. Your participation has the power to inform future policy and programs specific to women Veterans seeking employment, education and permanent housing following separation from the military. Your input is valuable!

If you are interested in learning more or participating in this study please contact Larkin Ray Harris at larkin.harris@familyhomelessness.org or 217-416-6048. Thank you for your service to our country.

This research is sponsored by The McCormick Foundation.

For more information about The National Center on Family Homelessness and Community Circles of Support for Veterans' Families, please visit www.familyhomelessness.org.